

Strategic Planning Solutions for your Technology and Business Needs

Strategy that works for you

Solutions to Align your Business and Technology

We take a grounded approach when it comes to planning and implementation. Regardless of the size of your initiative, the reality is any project you undertake will impact various areas in your organization. Knowing the overall structure of your company is key to efficient planning. Barfield Consulting, LLC takes a global approach. We look at each department and system to gain a full understanding of dependencies in order to identify challenges, complexities and gaps that can hinder progress for implementation.

Our goal is to partner with you and work with your department teams to provide strategic management and oversight to ensure your initiative is successfully implemented.

OUR APPROACH

By definition, strategic planning takes all areas of your business into account to determine where to spend time, resources and money. This overall outlook is key to understanding the vision and goals of your organization. Whether you are defining your roadmap or taking on a large implementation, Barfield Consulting, LLC delivers many flavors of strategy by identifying areas for streamlining, potential risk or impact that can change the course of your vision and goals.
